

Overview

The study of English is recognised as crucial in the development of a student's academic and social well being. It is compulsory for all students to study an English between content and structure, voice and perspectives and the text and context. This provides the opportunity for students to extend their experience of language and of texts and explore their ideas through their own reading and viewing. Students demonstrate understanding of the texts studied through creation of imaginative, interpretive, persuasive and analytical responses.

To provide for different learning styles a variety of assessment tasks are used. For each course of study tasks are selected from:

- ◁ Responding – analytical essays, oral productions, reviews, feature articles
